Underground Worries Axis In Satellite Countries Under the Heel of Herr Hitler's Gang

By STEPHEN BARBER

Cairo, June 17.—(AP)—Increasing resistance by opposition groups within Axis satellite countries of southeastern Europe, a situation which Nazi authorities apparently are handling with unusual liberality, was reported today in information reaching Cairo.

Underground leaders in collaborationist Rumania and Bulgaria are becoming more and more outspoken, it was said, and in Bulgaria, where many elements have strong ties with the Soviet, there has been a resurgence of the old "Mother Russia" sentiment.

JAP COOKS IN ARMY CAMPS HOARD FOOD

Caches of Stocks Sent to Camp Traded for Whiskey And Chickens for Yellow Prisoners

HAD SECRET STORES

Los Angeles, June 17.—(P)—Testimony of secret hoards of food stocks, some of which he said he believed had been traded by Japanese for whiskey and chickens, was given a Dies congressional subcommittee by a former employee of the Heart Mountain relocation center in Wyoming.

Earl A. Best, a wounded veteran of Dunkerque who said his son, Clifford, was killed in Africa last January, told the committee yesterday he was sent to Heart Mountain last December as an associate steward after having served for a time as chief steward at the Poston, Ariz., relocation center.

During a month-long inventory of food at the Heart Mountain camp, Best said, he found 36 of the center's 42 kitchens had supplies hidden in their attics.

In one of them, he declared, a Japanese cook showed him secret pantries reached by sliding doors in the kitchen walls, one of them about five by 15 feet in size and piled to the ceiling with foodstuffs. In another mess hall the Japanese had built a stage and the space beneath it was packed with canned goods, Best said. He notified the project director about the secret store rooms, he added, but no action was taken.

Flying Forts Win Air Fights

Washington, June 17.—(P)—Secretary of War Stimson disclosed today that 85, possibly 105, German fighter planes were destroyed by American and British fliers raiding Wilhelmshaven and Cuxhaven last Friday.

In those raids, in which he asserted heavy damage was caused to enemy industrial areas, the secretary added that eight Flying Fortresses were lost. Preliminary reports had placed the Nazi air losses at 54 craft.

Stimson also reported that the capture of Pantelleria, Lampedusa and two other small Mediterranean islands cost "only about 40 airplanes and a few planes." He said "substantial numbers" of Axis prisoners were taken—at Pantelleria they totaled 11,435 and at Lampedusa "between 1,000 and 5,000."

Discussing Allied raids on Kiel and Bremen in which he said "damage believed very heavy" was inflicted on the enemy, Stimson reported that 24 Flying Fortresses were lost instead of the originally announced 26. He explained that two of the big bombers originally reported lost returned to their bases safely. Those raids, he added, accounted for 65 enemy fighters.

Chest X-Ray Offered Public At City Building June 28

Everyone in Warren is about to have an opportunity to get a chest x-ray, according to H. M. Miller, president of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society. Having completed x-ray examinations of some 500 Sheffield industrial employees and school children, the tuberculosis society has completed arrangement for an approved mobile x-ray unit to be in Warren county from June 24 to June 30.

The unit will spend most of the time in the various industries of the city. However, the president announced that on Saturday, June 26, the unit will set up at the city building and will be open to the general public. A charge of $1 per x-ray is made to help defray expenses.

Appointment cards may be obtained from the following drug stores: Gaughn's, Harvey and Carey, Miller's, Mullen's, Smith's and Warren Drug; also from the following banks: Warren National, First National and Warren Bank and Trust Company.

Cards are also available at the Pennsylvania Electric and on the east side at the Mohr Printery.

According to President Miller, tuberculosis always increases in wartime; in England and on the continent of Europe deaths from this disease are increasing at an alarming rate and indications are that this country is also experiencing an increase.

The president of the society points out that tuberculosis often has no symptoms until it reaches an advanced stage. He emphasizes the importance of early diagnosis and hopes that everyone who is not employed at one of the industries cooperating in this survey will take advantage of the opportunity to get a chest x-ray on Saturday, June 26, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 9 p. m. at the city building.

SNOOPERS SPOT MOTOR CAR DRIVERS

Violators Cited Must Appear Before Local Rector Board to Explain Use of Gas for Driving

HOLD HEARINGS LATER

That OPA investigators have been at work in Warren was made known today when a telegram was received from the Erie office of the OPA stating that 25 violators of the ban on pleasure driving had been cited and would be served notice to appear before the local ration board.

Just when the investigators were in Warren is not known, although it has been reported several times that they had been here. In fact one group of four men were pointed out as OPA investigators. It cannot be learned that any motorists were stopped and it is presumed that the car license numbers were taken from cars parked about clubs and night spots.

The telegram received today by The Times-Mirror is as follows:

The Erie OPA office announced today that about 25 violators of the non essential driving ban in Warren were cited yesterday for hearings before their ration board. The date and time of the hearings will be announced later. Drive continues against violators.

MUSICIAN OF NOTE IS FOUND DEAD BY CAR

Bedford, June 17.—(P)—Coroner Vernon Geisel said Lantz Knight, 43, Bedford musician whose body was found slumped beside his automobile on a rural road near here yesterday, died of natural causes.

Discovery of footprints other than Knight's led to an investigation and an autopsy. Knight once played with Jan Garber's orchestra and other dance bands. He directed the V. F. W. national championship junior band at Bedford.

Audible All Clear Proves Satisfactory

Philadelphia, June 17.—(P)—The audible signal for the end of an air raid alert may return soon to all of Pennsylvania.

A test in Philadelphia, Bucks, Montgomery, Delaware and Chester counties last night was reported "satisfactory" to Dr. Ralph Hutchison, executive director of the State Council of Defense, of the Philadelphia Council of Defense.

Judge Harry S. McDevitt, executive director of the Philadelphia group, said the Third Service Command, which authorized the experimental five-county test, probably would be asked to approve a similar state-wide test.

A 15-second siren blast at 10:26 p. m. (EWT) was heard almost everywhere in the area involved, McDevitt said, and lights flickered on slowly after 41 minutes of darkness.

Radio announcements, which have been used in place of the audible all-clear during the past five months, announced the end of the blackout in areas beyond the reach of sirens. One Delaware County Civilian Defense group complained that the radio announcement preceded the siren blast by a minute and a half.

The blackout interrupted a Shibe Park baseball game between the Phillies and the Boston Braves.

HORST WANTS FARMERS TO KEEP PRODUCING

New York, June 17.—(P)—Farmers who devote more time to war plant jobs than to their farms are creating a "tremendously difficult problem," says Miles Horst, Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture.

He told a dairymen's meeting yesterday that the production of such farmers has dropped to a point where they produce hardly enough for their own families, and added, "We are going to have tremendously difficult problems to process our vegetable and fruit crops."

Pennsylvania also has suffered a material drop in feed grains, the secretary said.

42,000 Important Jobs For Women

BY WILLIAM G. SMOCK
Harrisburg, June 17.—(P)—More than 42,000 jobs in important Pennsylvania war plants are waiting for the right woman to come along and H. Raymond Mason, state director for the U. S. Employment Service, said today the posts must be filled in the next three months to keep production at high tempo.

Mason said the openings, covering all types of jobs, were listed by employers in 20 key areas. Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Erie, Lancaster and Reading, in that order, seek the greatest number with Harrisburg, Greensburg, Williamsport, Uniontown, Scranton, Altoona and other war production centers also clamoring for female employees.

U. S. Employment Service surveys show 288,437 women now working in 1,170 major industrial plants in the state. Mason said while women are volunteering for work at a rapid rate, demand is outstripping supply.

FRENCH IN AGREEMENT AT SESSION

Victory for De Gaulle Seen in Summoning Entire Free French Committee In Session

TWO POINTS SETTLED

Algiers, June 17.—(P)—Thirteen members of the French National Liberation Committee, with Gen. Henri Giraud presiding, reached an agreement at an 80-minute meeting today on procedure and collective responsibility, it was announced.

Rene Massigli, commissioner of foreign affairs, informed the first plenary session of communications received from other governments concerning recognition of the committee as the provisional government of the French empire.

Called to the meeting were not only the original seven members of the committee but also the six commissioners who occupy the status of ministers in the new French regime.

Summoning of the full membership was regarded by observers as in itself something of a victory for DeGaulle, who has refused to attend meetings of the seven-man committee for the past week.

A session of the entire group had been suggested by DeGaulle to break the deadlock over appointment of a commissioner of national defense, and it was assumed that he felt confident he could muster a majority of the 13 votes. Giraud had been reluctant to call the meeting.

DeGaulle has been reported desirous of taking over the portfolio of national defense himself, but he has been opposed by Giraud. The committee meeting preceded by only 24 hours the third anniversary of DeGaulle's decision to keep the fighting French in the war—a date which his followers will celebrate as a great national fete.

Vote Today on Portal Pay Rule

Washington, June 17.—(P)—The War Labor Board (WLB) tried to reach a vote late today on the crucial portal-to-portal pay issue in the soft coal wage dispute while members of the United Mine Workers murmured threats of a new nationwide shutdown next Monday unless their demands were satisfied.

Some members of the UMW policy committee, after a session of more than three hours yesterday, said suggestions were made to hold district conventions on the strike question with the objective of relieving President John L. Lewis of responsibility if another tieup of the coal mines develops and the president signs the anti-strike bill. The current extension of the truce declared by the UMW leadership expires Sunday midnight.

KING GEORGE MEETS YANKS IN NO. AFRICA

Inspected Army and Naval Units and Met Men Who Cover the War News

HAD A GOOD TIME

BY REIMAN MORIN
Representing the combined United States Press

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, June 16.—(Delayed.—P)—Having visited the American army in training for invasion of Europe and sampled American field rations on the first two days of his North African tour, King George VI of England got around yesterday (Tuesday) to inspecting units of the combined British and American fleet in the Mediterranean and meeting the war correspondents who covered the rout of the Axis in this theater.

Accompanying the king as he inspected the fighting men were two American officers, Vice Admiral H. K. Hewitt and Rear Admiral J. L. Hall.

The king then went aboard a large American warship and reviewed the personnel, after which he entered the captain's cabin with some of the ship's officers for a 10-minute breather.

From there he went to a British warship, where more than 30 American and British correspondents were drawn up to meet him. Each correspondent introduced himself, and from time to time as the king walked down the line of newsmen his face lighted up and he exclaimed: "I know your name very well. I have read many of your dispatches."

The king's chauffeur during the tour was a British army sergeant, but he is an American from Bridgeport, Conn. He is Sgt. J. A. Wells, who enlisted in the British forces in 1916 and "has been in and out of the British army ever since." The sergeant said he often thought of transferring to the American forces "but I might not get quite such a good job, so I guess I'd better stay where I am."

Lt. Governor To Pay Visit To Kiwanians

President Henry Ledebur informed Kiwanis Club members at their weekly luncheon-meeting at the Hotel Carver on Wednesday that they will be privileged to have as their guest next week O. Frederick, of Erie, lieutenant governor of this Kiwanis district.

He announced, also, that preparations are under way for a picnic-meeting the following Wednesday, June 30.

Speaker for yesterday's meeting was Stanley Laurence, well known county farmer and Granger, who discussed some of the farmer's problems under wartime conditions and OPA regulations governing the farmer's actions.

Harold Baker officiated for the membership committee in placing Kiwanis pins in lapels of two new members, Ray Johnson and Edward Sullivan.

The president spoke of the bereavement of W. H. Hoskins, honorary member of the club, and requested members to attend the funeral of Miss Dorothy Hoskins at three o'clock Saturday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church.

Japs Jam Program But Yank Fools 'Em

Somewhere in New Guinea, June 17.—(P)—Since the start of the war the Japanese have done everything possible to jam the radio frequency and prevent our fighting men from listening to Allied Nations' broadcasts.

When soldiers on Bataan peninsula in the Philippines tried to hear news from home the Japs would come in on the same wave length with jabberings and repetitions wiretaps signals.

In New Guinea they try the same tactics but one aggressive chap has fooled their efforts. He is Lieut. Frederick Newmeyer, Jr., Pittsburgh, Pa., who gives the (Turn to Page Nine)

Rapists Cause Fierce Rioting

Beaumont, Tex., June 17.—(P)—Col. Sidney C. Mason, in command of state troops enforcing martial law here, said today the negro section of Beaumont was "literally stomped into the ground" during race disturbances precipitated by two recent rape cases in which negroes were suspects.

"From a destructive standpoint, it equals the Meuse-Argonne section of the first world war," Col. Mason added.

Col. Mason's comment on the damage was made as this southern Texas City of more than 100,000 persons awoke today under the watchful eye of some 2400 peace enforcement personnel under his command.

The city had its first undisturbed sleep in two days after rioting which started late Tuesday night had taken the lives of one white man and one negro.

TARGETS GET SHOWERS OF HUGE BOMBS

Home Front of Rhineland Plastered By Explosives From Swarms of Airplanes

INVASION IS FEARED

Folkstone, England, June 17.—(P)—A large force of Allied planes was heard heading across the Strait of Dover this afternoon into northern France. The aircraft flew at a great height and their roar was lost as they went toward Calais.

By ROGER GREENE

Associated Press War Editor
British block-buster armadas thundered new destruction on the German home front before dawn today, hammering the Rhineland war foundries city of Cologne for the 116th time, while RAF fighters shot up transport and other targets in Nazi-occupied Holland and Belgium.

By daylight, Allied planes carried on the "round-the-clock" offensive across the English Channel and destroyed six Axis fighters against a loss of one RAF aircraft.

Fourteen RAF bombers and one fighter were listed as missing in the night's operations.

In the Mediterranean, Allied long-range fighters attacking from bases in the Middle East sank three more enemy ships in the Aegean Sea, while the mass of Lieut. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz' northwest Africa air force took a day off after violent assaults Tuesday on five Axis airdromes in Sicily.

In the European theatre, while Rome and Berlin rang the changes on prospects of the "zero hour" approaching for an Allied invasion, the spotlight shifted momentarily from Sicily, Sardinia and Italy to the eastern Mediterranean and the Balkans.

An Algiers broadcast reported that Turkey, still neutral but recently swinging toward the Allied camp, had broken off diplomatic relations with the pro-Nazi government of France.

The Algiers report lacked immediate confirmation, but Berlin asserted yesterday that Britain was "trying to bring Turkey in on her side."

From other widespread sources came a flurry of reports that major (Turn to Page Nine)

Strikers Are Reclassified

McKeesport, June 17.—(P)—The names of four bus drivers having occupational deferment were certified to their draft boards as the strike of the Penn Transit Company employees went into its fourth day today.

Carl A. Boe, vice president and general manager of the company, said that in reporting the strikers to their draft boards he was acting on "army instructions."

The strike arose from a company order curtailing its schedules in accordance with an Office of Defense Transportation directive.

An East McKeesport draft board spokesman said a reinvestigation of one of the strikers would be made and that he would be ordered up for physical examination if he is eligible for 1-A.

Mayor Frank Buchanan said he had been unsuccessful in efforts to get McKeesport's 25,000 bus riders, including 15,000 war workers, back on rubber tires again.

"I have been trying to get the company and strikers together," he said, "but both sides remain adamant, and it appears that stronger measures will have to be taken."

Major Personnel Blow-Up Due In OWI Within Short Time

Washington, June 17.—(P)—Look for a major personnel blow-up in the Office of War Information (OWI) soon—involving Director Elmer Davis, one of his top executives and maybe even the White House.

That was the word today from D. C. Speaker, strictly unofficial but well-informed District of Columbia news source.

"Ironically," said D. C., the mythical capital spokesman who represents authentic but unquotable sources, "the row is coming to a climax right after a speech by Davis in which he inferentially decimated giving too much attention to personal squabbles in our war agencies."

(At Boston, Monday, Mr. Davis suggested that reporters at Washington might be making too much of the various capital controversies.)

"What's cooking now," Speaker added, "is between Davis himself and one of his best-known aides—a man who has been regarded in the past as mighty close to the White House."

"Davis, who will take on anybody who he thinks he's right, is seeking the man's resignation, and the individual concerned—likewise a strong character—is reported to have elected to fight it out right to the top."

"Some people have been saying," Speaker went on, "that OWI has been losing a little of its grip over some of the government news it claims authority over—and that Elmer Davis would have to have a showdown sooner or later. This may be it."

D. C. Speaker added: "I admit I don't know when this one will break into the open, but I'll make a guess it will be within a few days."

Columnist Cummings Reports Senators Astounded By Port

State Senator L. E. Chapman and others of the Pennsylvania Senate Appropriations Committee recently visited the Port of Philadelphia and John Cummings, of the Philadelphia Inquirer accompanied the tour. In his capacity as columnist for the Inquirer Mr. Cummings wrote as follows:

The Senator from Warren, Dr. Chapman, was dumbfounded. The Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Taylor, for the first time in his life, was speechless. The two lawmakers, Woods, Norman, of Lancaster county, and Lloyd, of Montgomery, allowed the show was an eye opener. They reflected the feelings of Bill Habbyschaw, the chief clerk of the State House.

In all your years you never saw a more surprised gang of statesmen than the group from the General Assembly which toured the Port of Philadelphia the other day. They knew, of course, that Penn laid out the town between the Delaware and the Schuylkill and they suspected there was some water hereabouts and they had heard that from this port ships go down to the sea and to the far-flung corners of the world.

All this they knew in a general way. Now, as a committee from the Legislature which recently appropriated $200,000 for port improvements, they had come to town to see what we had here in the way of shipping facilities.

As an impartial observer, we joined the delegation, which was piloted around by Edwin R. Cox, Director of Wharves, Docks and Ferries in the Cabinet of Acting Mayor Sauer.

The aggressive director observed that most Pennsylvanians, including citizens of this town, get their mental picture of the port from the brief squint obtainable while crossing the river en route to Atlantic City or some other seaside resort. With this we are in complete accord.

In normal times the Philadelphia port is a busy place. To docks along the riverfront come the ships of the world with their cargoes. At these same docks vessels are loaded with goods for world trade.

Today the port is teeming with war-time activity. Millions of tons of supplies for the overseas armies are shipped from Philadelphia. But this is only part of what is going on.

Now and then you hear someone tell of the shipbuilding miracles being wrought on the West Coast. Or you hear of launchings in the Gulf of Mexico. Why, they're building more ships on the Delaware than in the rest of the country combined. At Sun Shipyards alone they turn out more cargo carriers, chiefly tankers, than the whole of Great Britain. The Delaware, not the Clyde, is the shipbuilding center of the world today.

"I never suspected there was anything like this along the river," The speaker was Senator Chapman. He comes from away out there in Warren county where the natives have private gas wells in their back yards.

Dr. Chapman and the other gentlemen of the Assembly who were shown the works by Director Cox are typical Pennsylvanians. Like the rest of us they knew we had a port here, but they never dreamed of it as a great terminal in world trade.

For reasons we all understand you cannot go into any great detail in discussing activities along the Delaware today. Still, you're permitted to take a cruise on one of the river steamers. As you go aboard a Coast Guardsman will give you a going over. No cameras are allowed.

We went up the river a spell to see the rejuvenated Cramp Shipyard, where they were putting the finishing touches on some jobs for the Navy. And we went down the river, past the great piers where high freighters were loading.

On the Jersey shore New York Shipbuilding Corporation employs thousands of men, were working away on vessels you're likely to hear from before the war is over.

The Navy Yard as seen from the river is really something! Those vessels you see anchored close to shore are not rowboats. Harve Taylor said one looked like the Empire State building lying on its side. Mr. Taylor is not given to exaggeration, except around election time.

We took a bit of a cruise up the Schuylkill to see the big refineries and then we dropped down the Delaware as far as the Pawlads shipyard.

Shipbuilding, important as it is, represents only part of the tremendous war machine operating at full speed on the Delaware. It's the kind of machine that can readily be converted to peacetime work, a circumstance that makes it all the more important for the city and the State to keep the port right up to snuff. The biggest show in these parts today is the Delaware between Philadelphia and Wilmington.

Campers Are Planning Play

Reports from the YWCA stay-at-home summer camp being conducted this week and next in the activities building show that since the newness has worn off campers are settling down to a regular schedule and classes are well under way.

The arts and crafts class is making gadgets and stuffed animals, while the dramatic group is rehearsing for a play, "Once In A Bright Blue Moon." The archery class is coming along nicely at Beatty Field and badminton games are held in the gym. Every afternoon around three o'clock campers await the appearance of their newspaper.

Wednesday's main event was a breakfast-hike to the Warr Penn Park and, since the weather was so nice, the girls remained right there for lunch.

firmed the election, the time and place for Rev. Wroth's consecration as a bishop will be designated by Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker.

Three rectors of the diocese and three out-of-state men were nominated. In addition to the new bishop, Rev. Sizer and Rev. Haines, they were: Rev. Roland Omsbee of Emporium, Rev. Malcolm D. Maynard of Milwaukee, Rev. Albert Broadhurst of Titusville, and Rev. Donald Frank Penn of Baltimore.

Rev. Wroth was born on January 11, 1889, at Darlington, Md. His father, Rev. E. W. Wroth, who among others, served All Saints church, Baltimore, for 27 years. His uncle, the Rev. Peregrine Wroth, was rector of the Church of the Messiah, Baltimore, Md., for 32 years. His mother's father was Judge John H. Price of Harford county, Md.

He attended the Boys' Latin preparatory school, Baltimore, and later graduated with a B. A. degree from Trinity college, Hartford, Conn., in 1915. He attended Virginia Theological Seminary at Alexandria, Va., graduating in 1917 with a B. D. degree. On April 29, 1917, he was ordained deacon by Bishop Murray and on March 17, 1918, was ordained priest by the bishop.

Rev. Wroth served as assistant at Christ church, Baltimore, 1917-18; was rector of Holy Trinity church, Baltimore, 1918-19; assistant at the Church of the Ascension, Washington, D. C., 1919-20. He was rector at Poolesville and Barnesville, Md., 1920-22; rector at Laurel, Md., 1922-25, and rector of Christ church, Georgetown, Md., 1925-30. Rev. Wroth also served as chaplain of National Cathedral school, 1924-30.

He became rector of Trinity Memorial church, Warren, in 1930. The bishop-elect's diocesan offices include: Treasurer of the church pension fund, chairman of the board of examining chaplains, chairman of the department of Christian education, member of the standing committee and member of the executive council.

Since 1930 Rev. Wroth has been minister in charge of St. Luke's church, Kinzua, and since 1939, has been in charge of Christ church, Tidoute.

In addition to his duties with the church, he is president of the Warren Community Chest board, secretary of the library board, secretary of the crippled children committee, member of the Salvation Army board and chairman of the week day school of religious education.

On May 24, 1920, Rev. Wroth was united in marriage with Marjorie Virginia Hamill of Washington, D. C. They have three children, Pinkney Wroth, Jr., who is now in service, Lane and Mary Elizabeth Wroth.

The newly elected bishop was one of the four clergy of the diocese named as deputies to the general convention of the Episcopal church at Cleveland, O., in October.

Although the election of the new bishop overshadowed other actions taken by the convention during the day, several other matters were taken before the balloting started. As the first business session of the convention came to an end on Tuesday, only three of the four lay deputies to the general convention at Cleveland had been named, these being F. B. Mallett of Sharon, H. Redfield of Smethport and G. C. Filer of Erie. At the session Wednesday, D. H. Phillips of Bradford, was named as fourth lay deputy, completing the delegation from the Erie diocese.

The convention also took note of the retirement of Bishop Ward and as an expression of love and esteem of the man who had guided its destinies in past years, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved: That it is the sense of the thirty-third annual convention of the diocese of Erie, meeting in Oil City, Pennsylvania, on June 15 and 16, that in the resignation of the Rt. Rev. John Chamberlain Ward, D. D., the diocese has suffered the loss of a notable leader. His office of Chief Shepherd of this flock has been characterized by patience, humility and unfailing kindness. He has exercised leadership within the church and equally in good works beyond the bounds of his own following.

"We wish to record our thanks to Almighty God for the spiritual blessings we have enjoyed during Bishop Ward's consecrated ministry. The affection and prayers of all the members of the diocese will follow him."

About 125 clergy and lay delegates were present for the session

Wednesday which terminated with a dinner served by the women of the parish in the parish house.

The meeting Tuesday was highlighted by the visit of the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, presiding bishop of the United States, who spoke at the 6 o'clock banquet in Grace Methodist church and delivered the sermon at the service following in Christ church.

The first day's business in addition to routine matters, included the re-election of the standing committee and the naming of deputies to the general convention at Cleveland.

Commandos Win Praise For War Work

Warren's Junior Commandos are cleaning up on the campaign for blood donors for the Red Cross blood bank. The boys and girls in the various parts of the city worked hard and faithfully and to date have secured 200 applications from persons willing to donate blood for the blood bank. There are still some sections of the town to be cleaned up and the Commandos anticipate they will have about 300 signed applications when all of the application blanks are picked up.

Seemingly the Commandos realized the importance of their job in making this canvass and checks have shown most parts of the town well covered. Melvin Keller in charge of the Red Cross Blood Donors is well pleased with the work of the Commandos and feels that in the future they will accomplish much more as the experience gained in this drive will stand them in good stead.

Many were surprised to see in the Flag Day parade such a large number of boys and girl Commandos as few had realized just what a great part in the war work the youngsters were playing.

Speeders Get Warning From Police Patrol

Chief of Police Haehn last night turned the officers of the force loose on the streets in an effort to check some of the wild driving and speeding that has been in progress for some time. During the early morning hours and at night from 10:45 until midnight auto drivers have been indulging in some high and louty speeding when defense plants changed shifts.

The police worked at three different intersections last night and stopped many cars and gave the offenders a warning. The next time such a drive is made there will be no warnings but a ticket for speeding will be passed out. Time is said to heal all wounds and it seems to have obliterated any memory of a 35 mile speed limit proclaimed some time ago.

OLD HOME DAY
Saturday, June 19, the annual Old Home Day, will be observed with the usual picnic at Plummer one of the old oil towns of this section.

WILL MEET FRIDAY
Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock the regular meeting of the Warren County Council of Defense will be held in the office at 311 Market street.

FRANKLIN ELECTION
The National Labor Relations Board has announced that a majority of the 200 foundry employees in the Franklin plant of the Chicago Pneumatic Tool Co., have selected the United Steel Workers of America (CIO) as their bargaining agent.

CARRY YOUR PACKAGES
Orders just issued will cause each and every one to carry more parcels in the future, thus relieving delivery services. Parcels less than 60 inches in combined height and girth and weighing less than five pounds must be carried. Exceptions are made for some foodstuffs, etc.

DRUNK WAS PANHANDLING
A fellow with an overload of cheer did a bit of panhandling on Liberty street last night and grew quite offensive when refused a donation for the liquor fund. Reports were made to the police and one of the germ proof metal mattresses at the police cell room received the offender. This morning he met up with Magistrate Greenlund and in a contrite mood heard the usual "fine and costs".

ENROLLMENT IS COMPLETE
Captain Cannon, of the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps Auxiliary reports that the enrollment of the required number of men for the Warren company has been completed. This required a large amount of work due to the fact that the Auxiliary was one of the last organizations to be proposed. The first and third Sunday of each month has been set aside for meetings and drill.

Just SCRAPS

At the time this "Scraper" is written—1 P. M. Wednesday—only spot inclusions are available from the Tin Can Collection. The State Hospital will supply about 3 truckloads of cans, North Warren 2 trucks, Youngsville 2 trucks. In Warren Borough itself, observance of the collection has been quite satisfactory but quantities of cans generally seem to be somewhat smaller than last time. W. T. Corbett, Chairman of the Salvage Committee, hopes that the goal of one carload will be reached.

Sugar Grove is ringing the bell time and again! It has just turned in a total of 39,742 tons of assorted scrap of which 20 tons was gathered by the school. In the recent paper pickup they filled their warehouse until the floor began to sag, and the final collection total was 11,500 pounds. Allen H. Frank, chairman in Sugar Grove, is fortunate in having an energetic staff of lieutenants who deliver the goods. Thanks to Sugar Grove for its loyal support of the County Salvage effort!

Sheffield, too! Up there is a man by the name of Donald P. Brooks who has been doing a triple A job, along with public schools and the Boy Scouts. Metal, paper, and cans are on the move every day. Mr. Brooks recently brought in 1,000 pairs of hose and several boxes of collapsible tubes. Results from the Tin Can collection are not yet in.

Elton D. Barton, Youngsville chairman, is getting fine help from the schools down there. Recently a number of school children got busy and dug up quite a few railroad ties which were buried two feet deep in the ground. If school children can do that, don't you think we all ought to dig a little deeper and a little harder?

Pennsylvania, which has been in the forefront of most phases of the Salvage drive, is doing a poor job in the collection of waste fats. Its monthly quota is 1,428,500 pounds, and its April collections (latest reported) were only 539,158 pounds, or only 37.7% of our quota. Pennsylvania is only in fourth place throughout the nation on a gross volume basis, and even 6.3 percent below the national average. Maybe the fat's in the fire instead of in a handy can on your shelf. Remember, only a tablespoonful per house per day will do the trick. We cannot let our boys fight with bare fists.

Brown paper will be next on the list of salvage items. Serious need for brown paper and Kraft cardboard has developed and Mr. Corbett is now engaged in concentrating upon the problem of just how to do the best job of getting it in. You'll be hearing more details before long. Meanwhile, don't throw away a scrap of brown paper, and keep it stored separately from all other kinds of paper.

A Rag Collection, too, is in the wind. Save your rags! You'll hear more later!

REV. WROTH HONORED

Seldom is a church parish and the community which it serves honored in a greater degree than that which came to Trinity Memorial Episcopal church Wednesday afternoon at Oil City when Rev. E. Pinkney Wroth, rector, was elected bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Erie to succeed Bishop John C. Ward, retired. The decision came shortly after five o'clock to close the 33rd annual convention of the diocese in Christ church there.

With a background of 26 years as an Episcopal rector, serving churches in Baltimore and other Maryland towns before coming to Warren in 1930, leading officer in diocesan affairs, and active in community projects such as the Community Chest, library board, Crippled Children's committee, Salvation Army, Week-day School of Religious Education, the Ministerial Association, Y. M. C. A., and others, Rev. Wroth will make a worthy and capable successor to Bishop Ward, whose spiritual leadership has made him one of the outstanding Episcopalians during the years that he presided over the diocese.

Since coming to Warren, Rev. Wroth and his family have endeared themselves to the entire community as well as in outlying districts where Rev. Wroth was rector in charge over a period of years. It is with a feeling of regret that the elevation will make it necessary for them to move to Erie, but there is consolation in the thought that it will be possible for them to make frequent trips "back home!"

HOW THE ARMY WINS FRIENDS

"If you can get along with the next door neighbors or your fellow office workers, you have what it takes to make friends with a Syrian, a New Caledonian, an Egyptian or a Chinese or a Hindu," writes Wilfred Funk in Your Life. "The rules for making friends and influencing people are pretty much the same the world over."

"They're important rules, too. So important that they rank along with guns and ships and airplanes as weapons for winning the war. Every U. S. soldier and sailor in foreign service is given a compact booklet, published by the War and Navy Departments, giving him tabloid directions on how to win the friendship of our allies in global conflict."

Here are some of the admonitions and suggestions which Mr. Funk quotes from these various booklets and which, he points out, are as good on the home front as they are in foreign fields:

"Keep out of arguments, especially on politics and religion."

"If you want someone's friendship, don't snatch for it; wait for it."

"Don't be a windbag and a braggart."

"Unintentional offenses are more readily forgiven if your attitude is one of respect."

"Follow the example of your host."

"Respect the things the other fellow treasures and is proud of."

"Don't tell them. Let them tell you."

BICYCLE DON'TS!

According to the Junior Red Cross Journal there were 900 persons killed and 37,000 injured in bicycle accidents during the year 1941. Carelessness on the part of cyclists accounted for most of these, and it would be well for Warren bike riders to study the following list of "Don'ts" for riders for the coming months, as listed by the Journal:

Don't ride mechanically defective bicycles; loose handlebars or faulty brakes lead to serious accidents.

Don't navigate in heavy traffic until you have had sufficient practice to give self-confidence. Even then riding in congested areas is risky.

Don't ride at dusk or after dark without a headlight and reflector.

Don't zigzag over the right of way, or practice circus stunts.

Don't speed on wet pavements, or hitch onto moving cars. And don't carry a second passenger on the seat or handlebars and thus endanger two lives.

In short, the bicycle is no toy; treat it as a vehicle capable of injury or death to both rider and pedestrian.

The fact that OPA agents operating in Warren Wednesday cited about 25 motorists for violating the non-essential driving ban, will doubtless result in a considerable reduction in the number of automobiles on the streets of the borough the next few days. Announcement is made that the time of hearings will be revealed later and that the ban continues.

It wouldn't be so hard walking for some folks if low-hanging branches on shade trees on some streets were trimmed.

What it Means

By JOHN GROVER
AP Features Writer

WASHINGTON — Possible long-range effects of the on-again, off-again coal strike have been overshadowed by its immediate threat to war production, but analysts here see it leaving its mark deep on the next several years.

Veteran observers attach great significance to Assistant President James Byrnes' espousal of anti-strike legislation. This move, by the Administration's No. 2 man indicates a revolutionary administration tack.

Always before, the administration fought off all attempts to pass legislation restricting organized labor. Within the past three weeks, Madame Secretary Perkins and other Administration spokesmen were sniping at the anti-strike proposal. It is a justified conclusion that their views were pre-approved at the White House. Cabinet members do not customarily run counter to the boss man's policy.

Startling Development
The startling development that Byrnes has thrown his considerable weight in favor of anti-strike laws marks the first time the Administration has tried anything but sweetly reasonable persuasion in dealing with labor chiefs.

The growing group of political wisacres which sees Byrnes being groomed for a place on the 1944 presidential ticket reads deeper meaning into the choice of the assistant president as the first Administration spokesman to support restrictive laws.

It is their thesis the Administration has concluded that the lack of a firm labor policy has been increasingly unpopular over the country, and has determined to bow to this political wind. Byrnes, already being given a build-up, was named sponsor of the new labor law to increase his stature further, say these observers.

It is the informed consensus that organized labor's days as a pampered political darling are numbered.

numbered. But no well-posted observer contends that this means an era of labor-baiting and union-busting is about to begin. Far from it.

Labor Comes Of Age

What the Smith-Connally bill presages is simply labor's coming of age, if the interpretation of majority analytical opinion is correct. In other words, labor will be forced, by the middle-of-the-road legislation, to accept responsibilities to the national community commensurate with the privileges granted in the past ten years.

Another development freely predicted in the press galleries is the indicated eclipse of the old-time labor boss. The recent troubles in industry have caused even staunch friends of organized labor, who support labor's gains, to conclude that some curb on personal powers is necessary.

Reforms Favored

It is notable that many who favor continuance and even expansion of organized labor's social gains at the same time differentiate sharply between rank-and-file labor and its entrenched leaders. It is also reported by some congressmen that large blocs of organized labor also favor reforms, forced if necessary, to prevent labor dictatorship and to make the labor movement more a democracy and less an oligarchy of self-perpetuating policy committees who give orders instead of carrying out the directives of the membership.

Even Senator Robert Wagner, labor's elder statesman and best friend, protested sharply at the reported use of the Labor Relations Act bearing his name to justify the coal strike. Similar expressions have been frequent in congressional circles.

So, these are the developing trends in the labor picture, accelerated by the coal strike, as generally seen in Washington: (1) labor's basic gains will be protected; (2) labor will be forced to accept added responsibilities; (3) the Administration will not be so amenable to every whim of labor chiefs; (4) powers of the labor titans will be curbed.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Battle Wagons

When Japan attacked at Pearl Harbor we had 17 battleships in service and 15 building. We were making preparations but the war did not wait. These 32 battle wagons cost American taxpayers three billion dollars for a two ocean navy. The war seemed far away then.

Now fifty million Americans have a personal stake in this war. It has been brought home to them. That's why everyone is increasing purchases of War Bonds.

Balance Victory Garden Crops with Food Needs

Too much may be as serious an error in your Victory garden as too little. Indeed, too much of one crop is likely to be accompanied by a scarcity of another. To avoid waste—especially waste of your time and labor on which there are so many demands—your garden should be planned to produce the food your family needs in well-balanced profusion, but without wasteful surpluses.

That means reconciling production with consumption. Imagine you are a market gardener with one customer with whose buying habits you are familiar. Your problem is to have on hand during the harvest season whatever may be demanded of familiar things which your customer likes to cook, together with a few additional items on which to exercise your salesmanship ability. Such, for example, as green leafy vegetables, to step up the family's intake of Vitamin A.

The over-all harvest season from a garden in the cold weather state will last about four months. It should supply all the fresh vegetables except potatoes needed by the family during July, August, and September, plus a considerable quantity in June and nearly all in October.

In the four months of harvest there are 129 days. How many vegetables will be served a day? No need to argue with your wife (or husband) about that. You know it will average three a day, excluding potatoes. A salad or a cooked vegetable at lunch, a salad and a cooked vegetable at dinner will be the rule. That gives us 390 vegetable dishes for the four months.

This provides only for fresh vegetables to be eaten during harvest. Additional quantities must be grown for canning. Your winter needs of each item can be figured quite accurately, and your sowing should be planned so that the extra vegetables for putting up will be ready when you are, and can be picked and processed without depleting the height of their quality.

Having decided the number of dishes you will provide, what shall these dishes be? You have been eating with your family quite a while, and reflection should sug-

Plan Your Victory Garden Yield

This table shows the length of garden row required to produce one serving for a family of four.

Beet Beans	1 ft.	Kohlrabi	2 ft.
lima Beans	2 ft.	Lettuce	2 ft.
Snaps	1 ft.	Lettuce, Leaf	1 ft.
Broccoli	1 ft.	Spring Onions	1 ft.
Brussels	1 ft.	Peas	2 ft.
Sprouts	1 ft.	Parsnips	2 ft.
Cabbage	2 ft.	Peas	3 ft.
Chinsee	2 ft.	Peppers	1 ft.
Calabrese	1 1/2 ft.	New Zealand	1 ft.
Carrots	2 ft.	Spinach	3/4 ft.
Carrotflower	2 ft.	Radios	2 ft.
Celery	1 ft.	Rutabaga	2 ft.
Collards	1 ft.	Salsify	2 ft.
Cucumbers	2 ft.	Squash	3 ft.
Egg Plant	1 ft.	Swiss Chard	1 1/2 ft.
Endive	1 ft.	Tomatoes	1 1/2 ft.
Kale	1 ft.	Turnips	1 1/2 ft.

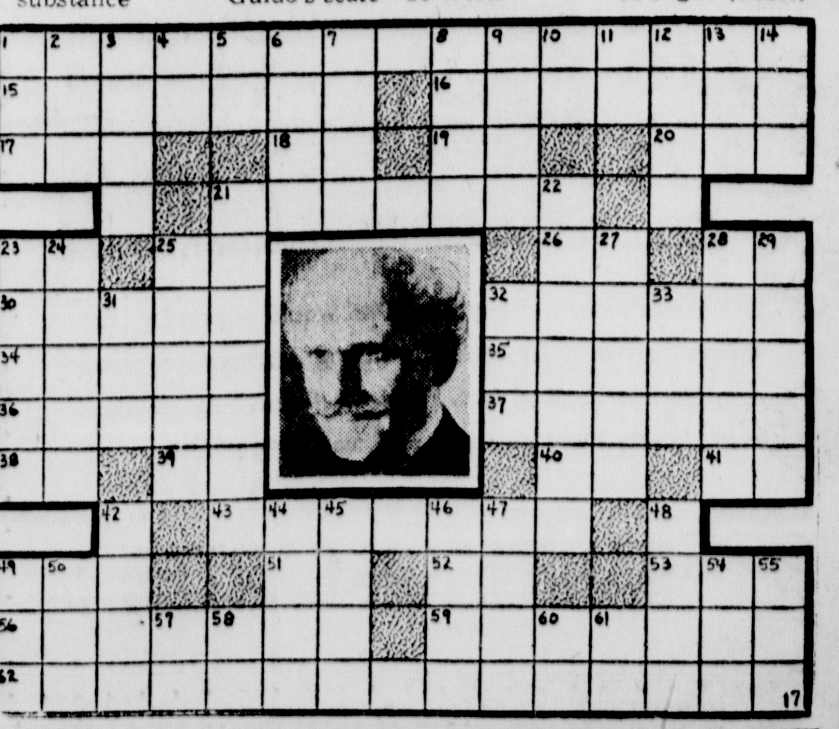

gest how often during the week they will welcome cooked greens, beets, carrots, or peas; how often they will enjoy a crisp bowl salad, and what other vegetables you should have on hand to vary the monotony and provide that something different which is the indispensable ingredient of an enjoyable diet.

In 120 days there are 17 full weeks. For one family serving a week you will have to provide seventeen dishes. Two servings a week will call for 34 dishes. Now add the extra production which will be needed for each item for canning, and you have your garden production schedule.

Then take the table which accompanies this article and figure out how many feet of each crop your garden rows should grow. The table gives the number of feet required for one serving to a family of four. Multiply this by the servings required of each crop and you have a reasonably accurate program for production without waste. Don't try to be too exact. Gardeners require broad tolerances. The measurements given in the table are for average soil, and may be too liberal, or too small for your garden. But they are a guide to help you plan, and a careful plan will insure that serious waste of time and labor will be avoided, and provide a well-balanced selection of appetizing foods always on hand from which your household manager may choose.

Next Tuesday afternoon the first special event on the summer schedule of the Y. M. C. A. will be held. At 1 o'clock the "Y" gang will call roll in the boys' department for a hike to Camp Jefferson. "Bill" Parmlee, who is in charge of the special summer program being offered at the "Y" this season, announced the hike as a bang-up opener for a service of events in June. He has mapped a special route and promises an afternoon of fun to all those "Y" members and friends who have sufficient red corpuscles to navigate over a few hills and who are wide enough awake to avoid fall into Jackson Run.

So come along!—you fellows who have never formed the hiking habit—you fellows with the excess energy—yes, even you stiff-limbed peddle-pushers! Store your bike for a day and try the hiking cure for whatever ails you!

Rachel Blomquist Is Heard In Pleasing Senior Piano Recital

Miss Rachel Blomquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Blomquist, of North Warren, was well received Wednesday evening in her piano recital presented in the Conservatory concert hall. Pupils of Dr. LeRoy E. Campbell, she formerly studied with Elizabeth Biber White, prior to Mrs. White's moving to San Antonio, Texas.

In her "Sarabande" by Bach, she showed a rich tone required by colorful chords, following this with a Bach "Prelude," a trying number written in true classic style and requiring a continuous 16th note motion which Miss Blomquist maintained in a very well controlled musical style. The Chopin group was well contrasted dynamically and agogically and her final group of contemporary works was ended with the superb Grieg Sonata, which she played building up the climax with excellent poise and control, quite power and brilliancy.

Margaret Drivas, assisting artist, has made remarkable progress under Eugene Kuester's voice training program and her singing Wednesday night was a genuine artistic treat, particularly in her first group. The Puccini aria from "Madame Butterfly" was beautifully sung, coming up to the fine climax with a splendid high note taken in excellent form. Her accompaniment was tastefully played by Edith Haines Kuester.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste builds up in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. FARM NEWS

Harrisburg, June 17.—(P)—The State War Board of the U. S. Department of Agriculture urged Pennsylvania farmers today to increase acreage devoted to Irish potatoes and fresh vegetables.

James E. Walker, board chairman, said cards are being mailed to all growers who have listed goals for these important war crops with a request the cards be signed and returned to county AAA offices.

The cards should be returned by June 30 so that farmers who sign up for larger plantings may receive production payments.

"Because of the AAA's drive in increasing potato acreage with production payments and a price support program," Walker declared, "the consumer is assured of an adequate potato supply and is protected from inflation prices by the government's ceiling price program.

Through the support price program, the government will offer to buy U. S. No. 1's this September at $1.26 per bushel."

All farmers who plant over 2.7 acres of either Irish potatoes or specified vegetables for fresh consumption are eligible for a goal in the program and may earn a government production payment by increasing their planted acreage of these crops. The vegetables covered are carrots, snap beans, Lima beans, tomatoes, cabbage, onions and green peas.

You May Lose Your Rationing Card If You Violate Any Of The Following Regulations

The OPA has announced the following rules which motorists should follow to avoid violations of the ban on pleasure driving. Listed are the types of driving permissible and those which are prohibited:

1—Driving permitted even if alternate transportation is available.

WORK—You may drive to your place of employment or business.

SCHOOL—Students may drive to a school where they are pursuing a regular course of study.

REPAIRS—You may drive your auto for repairs to the nearest station or to the station which you customarily patronize in the past.

STORAGE—You may drive your car to the nearest storage garage to place your auto in dead storage. If a free storage garage is available within 30 miles of your home, you may drive your car there.

SALE—You may drive your car to deliver it to a new owner but not if you are merely transferring ownership temporarily or going to permit someone the use of your car. Also, you may drive your car to a specific dealer to sell it but you can't use it for general "shopping around" in the used-car market.

FARM—You may drive to a farm for the purpose of regular work in connection with commercial farm operations.

SERVICEMEN —Members of armed service homes on furlough may use the auto for social visits to relatives or friends or to transact business or personal affairs. Also, the family is permitted to drive the serviceman to and from the railroad or bus station and home.

DRAFTEE—Same rules apply to them—after they have been inducted—as to servicemen, provided the draftee has his special induction order or furlough paper with him.

INVALIDS—Invalids and physically-disabled persons may be driven out for a ride if a doctor certifies that such riding is absolutely essential to the person's recovery. However, invalids can't be driven to places of amusement.

MOVING —You may drive your auto from your old residence to your new permanent residence. (You may move your property in the auto only if a public carrier isn't available and public transportation isn't adequate.)

TIRE INSPECTION —You may drive to your nearest tire-inspection station for a tire check-up.

VOLUNTEER WORK—Members of ration boards, draft boards, Civilian Defense units and similar organizations may drive to their meetings and instruction classes.

FUND CAMPAIGN—Driving permitted by persons regularly performing duties in connection with the solicitation of funds under an organized Red Cross War Fund or similar campaign of other organizations.

WELFARE SERVICE —Members of welfare organizations may drive to shut-ins' home to deliver food or medicine but not to deliver clothing or reading matter unless these can't be delivered in any other way.

II—Driving permitted if alternate transportation isn't adequate:

UNIT MEETINGS —Workers may drive to meetings of their union or of other organizations directly concerned with a man's job or profession if it's essential to their job that they do so and if other transportation isn't adequate.

OTHER MEETINGS —Trustees, officers, directors and executives under obligation to attend a meeting for transacting necessary business or preserving an organization's property may drive to such meetings, if other transportation isn't adequate. But no one else may do so regardless of the organization's importance to the war effort.

APARTMENT HUNTING —You may drive to find an apartment or home if a change of residence is essential and public transportation isn't adequate. You can't drive merely to find a summer home.

CEMETERY VISITS —You may drive to visit the grave of a relative only if it amounts to a religious rite (as, for example, on Memorial Day), and if public transportation isn't adequate.

CHURCH—Driving to church is permitted only if public transportation isn't adequate. The same goes for confirmations, baptisms, weddings and other religious ceremonies. In ceremonies, participants and members of the immediate family may use the car to attend the ceremony if other transportation isn't adequate, but may not use the car to attend a reception apart from the ceremony.

FUNERALS—Same regulations as for church attendance.

MEDICAL CARE—Driving to a doctor, dentist, etc., permitted if public transportation isn't adequate. The same is true in case of any kind of emergency, including those involving maternity cases or illness demanding removal of a person to a hospital.

FAMILY NECESSITY —Driving permissible to bring necessities to family members if they can't be procured in any other way and public transportation isn't adequate.

SHOPPING —Driving permitted but only if the need is essential and immediate and if nearby shopping isn't possible.

SCOUTS—Scoutmasters may drive to meetings even if transportation is adequate but officers, delegates and executives may do so only if transportation isn't adequate. Scout members can't drive to meetings under any circumstances, although they may ride with a Scoutmaster.

TRAVELERS—You may drive a traveler and his baggage to and from home and station but only if other transportation isn't adequate and if the traveler isn't on a vacation or some other social visit.

GARDENING —Victory gardeners may drive to their gardens only if other transportation isn't adequate. Persons owning real estate from which they derive income may drive out to inspect it.

SICK VISITS —Members of the immediate family may drive to visit someone who is seriously ill if other transportation isn't adequate, but persons other than the immediate family can't do so except if they are summoned by the attending physician.

RESTAURANT —Driving to a nearby restaurant permitted if other transportation isn't adequate.

COURTS —Jurors, witnesses and litigants may drive to a court if other transportation isn't adequate.

III. No driving for following purposes under any circumstances:

To benefits or socials of any kind, even by a doctor who might want to have his auto at hand in case of emergency.

To amusements, to horseback-riding academies or other "exercise" schools.

To resorts except that invalids for whom such a trip has been ordered by a doctor may be driven to a resort.

Any person may stop off between home and work to do anything he pleases, provided he does not veer from his regular route. The same is true in regard to a motorist who is in the process of making a trip otherwise permissible under the regulations.

Walker said there is "an important relationship between the planted acreage of these war crops and the farmers AAA goals for them," adding that payments will be made only for the acreage planted between 90 and 110 per cent of the established goal.

All agents and chemists of the bureau of foods and chemistry in the State Department of Agriculture have been instructed by Director Anton Roeger, Jr., to be on guard against debasement or adulteration of rationed foods or those used to supplement rationed foods.

Roeger told staff workers "the rationing program emphasizes the importance of directing your operations so that any material debasement of those foods and food products which are subject to rationing, as well as those staples which will be used to supplement rationed products, will be promptly detected."

He added: "Under existing wartime conditions, there is every probability that a substantial increase in serious economic cheats will occur. Current shortages will materially increase the temptation towards adulteration and misbranding."

"Where the supply of commodities is limited and the consumer is obliged to curtail his food purchases, economic violations become increasingly serious. Such violations may affect not only the financial resources, but may actually impair the health of consumers through a reduction in nutritional value."

"In the food field, the conventional practice has been to direct operations at violations affecting public health, those involving composition and fifth and the civilian economy. x x x

Major League Players Taking Many Chances to Make Good; Couple Chapters Wednesday

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Major league players will break a leg to make good on their first appearance with a new club.

At least Danny Litwiler ran into a wall at Sportsman's Park in his debut with the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals after being traded by the Phillies and other players have shown just as strong an urge.

Connie Ryan, the day after he was traded to the Boston Braves by the New York Giants, hit the first home run of his major league career to beat his former teammates. Coaker Triplett bowed before his new followers at Philadelphia with a home home and a triple that beat the Braves.

There were even a couple of new chapters yesterday.

Rube Fischer, the rugged, right-handed pitcher whom the Giants had just brought up from their Jersey City farm in the International League, was ordered out onto the mound at the Polo Grounds against the Giants' bitter rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, and proceeded to pitch a seven-hit victory, 3-2, with the help of a two-run homer by his manager, Mel Ott.

At the same time, Babe Barna, a promising slugger whose batting average was insignificant with the Giants, donned a Boston Red Sox uniform, hit a nine-inning double and scored the deciding run to give Yank Terry a 3-2 decision over the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Dodgers' loss was their third in a row, longest losing streak of the season for Brooklyn, but it did not cost them any additional ground in the National League pennant chase because the Cardinals also were beaten, 4-1, in 11 innings by the Cincinnati Reds.

Johnny Vander Meer and Howie Pollet looked up in a left-handed hurling duel in which each allowed only four hits and one run for 10 innings. Then the Reds made four hits in the top half of the 11th, including a two-run double by Eddie Miller, to sew up the victory.

The Phillies took their third straight from the Braves, 2-0, with St. Johnson pitching masterful three-hit ball, in spite of the fact that the game was interrupted for 41 minutes by a practice blackout in Philadelphia.

The Pittsburgh Pirates opened with a three-run blast in the first inning and whipped the Chicago Cubs, 5-2.

The games at St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia were all night contests and in addition the Washington Senators turned back the New York Yankees, American League leaders, under the floodlights of Griffith Stadium.

The Senators were held to six hits, but Rookie Tommy Byrne had a spell of wildness in the eighth that helped them rally for five runs, to win 8-3.

The St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox split a doubleheader, the Sox dropping the first, 5-2, and running their losing string to five games, and then coming back to win the nightcap, 9-0. Orval Grove was touched for 10 hits in the afterpiece, but obtained the shutout with the help of five double plays by his teammates and now has won three games without a defeat.

Detroit and Cleveland were weathered out again.

FORGE DROPS DECISION AT OILER TOWN

In a game played at Oil City last night, the National Forge and Ordnance diamond array dropped a short count to Meadville 4 to 2.

The Forge pounded out five hits to the Meadville team's 4, but errors counted up against them and even with Sparky Pollock's two doubles and Harry Rosequist's home run plus a long double by Swanson, they failed to tally more than twice with clutch hitting on an off night.

"Diz" Hines pitched 4 hit ball all the way through and struck out 5 batters along the route, but with spotty support, took the rap, while the opposing moundman, Elmon scattered 5 hits, striking out 8.

The Forge is looking forward to breaking the winning streak of Meadville at 8 when they meet here the 27th of June.

National Forge Plays Fourth Warren Game Tonight at 6:15; Irvine Faces Elks Tomorrow

The National Forge and Ordnance baseball outfit, fresh from a loss at Oil City last night takes on the Struthers-Wells nine in their fourth meeting on Russell Field tonight.

Promising the local fans a game on Thursdays, the present schedule brings the two teams together again for the fourth time, but with the rivalry displayed by the two, always puts on an exciting time for the bleacherites.

The Forge in their fourth game will probably start Hank Wise against Johnny Kane tonight, and Hines against the Elks tomorrow night in their first meeting provided the rain holds off long enough to get that "jinx" game played.

The Forge has played four games in Warren, winning three and tying one to keep an unblemished record on the books.

Game time is 6:15.

ZIVIC AND LAMOTTA WILL MEET JULY 12

Pittsburgh, June 17.—(P)—The Rooney-McGinley Club hopes to reschedule Zivic and Jake Lamotta here July 12, now that the State Athletic Commission has sanctioned the bout.

Jake Mintz, matchmaker for the club, said: "We've got Fritz signed for July 12 and Aug. 7 at Forbes Field. We're going to try to get Lamotta here for the July 12 date."

Both Lamotta and Zivic say they want to fight again to settle the outcome of their bout here a week ago. Lamotta got a split decision but apparently few were convinced he was the better man.

Chapter 9

THE next guest on whom Ann and Bert called was Roscoe Newton.

He thumped across his living room to meet them and boomed a welcome to Ann.

"Time you were getting here, young lady. With your grandmother dead this place is going to rack and ruin. Why, only this morning my orange juice was like warm, lukewarm, mind you! I always drink it iced."

"I'm sure there was some mistake," Ann mumbled. "I'll be glad to mention it in the kitchen."

"Do more than mention it! I've been here long enough to demand a few things. And by heaven I'm going to demand them. I've got my health to consider!"

She glanced at Bert. He wasn't giving her any sign of help. "Yes, Mr. Newton," she said, more meekly than she looked. After all there were as many vitamins in lukewarm orange juice as in iced and she wondered just what ailment the drink was supposed to cure anyway.

"Well, I can see you're in fine shape," Bert offered. Ann surprised a poorly concealed smile of amusement on his face. "In fine shape? You drinking your water all right?"

"Yes. And soaking myself to death in those blessed baths. Soaking myself to death!"

"Soaking yourself to health," Bert amended firmly. "You could not live a month without them." Mr. Newton looked as if he'd seen a ghost. He collapsed into a chair and began to gasp for breath. "You're right, doctor. I've got to have them!"

"When?" Ann said when they were again in the hall.

"Just routine," Bert assured her and slipped his arm about her waist.

FOR a second she was too startled to protest. Then quickly she shrugged away from him. "You're forgetting yourself, Bert."

"Afraid somebody might see us? After all if old Gibbs is right, you may own the joint any day."

"That doesn't alter my preferences," she said.

"You never know," said Bert.

Chapter 10

ANN, picture in hand, stood terrified, waiting for the intruder to make the next move. All was deathly still. Then there was the sound of a cautious breath let out slowly.

Whoever it was must be taking his bearings. Any minute he would touch the electric switch or turn a flash light beam around the room. In either case she would be caught.

The feel of the satin smoothness of the damask drapery against her hand suggested her only refuge. Swiftly she twisted her body and noiselessly drew the drapery across in front of her.

Still clutching the picture she was hidden behind the red damask. For the moment at least she was safe.

There was movement now. She could hear the soft tread of shoes on the thick Chinese carpet. Around the edge of her curtain she saw a thread of light.

Could it be Mr. Baxton coming in late?

No. He wouldn't bother to be quiet and long ago he would have switched on the office light.

He wouldn't now be warily touching the papers on the desk. She stopped breathing as she realized that the person standing only a few feet from her didn't belong there at all. Like herself he had come on a secret mission.

What mission she could only conjecture and yet her good sense told her that there was but one thing of value hidden in her grandmother's rooms.

The will!

They had reached the next door and Ann hesitated. "I don't believe I'll go in this one with you," she said. "I have some things to see about."

He protested but she left him. She didn't have anything to see about, of course. But she couldn't stand any more visits. If Mrs. Fay and Mr. Newton were typical of the guests she would be glad, yes, thankful, to be able to close Terrence House to them. That might force them to employ the self-discipline and genuine exercise their cases required.

And thinking of Bert's prescriptions she couldn't help concluding that the mineral spring wasn't the only hoax at Terrence House.

As for herself it might be harder to earn money figuring rate sheets but it was decent and honorable.

IT was late Thursday night when Ann decided to make her own search of Grand Gussie's suite. Only after she had looked in every place of concealment would she begin to believe the will wasn't there.

Since Mr. Baxton slept in the bedroom adjoining the office she waited until the big house was quiet, until Sarah had turned off the light in the front hall, until the guests' rooms one by one became dark.

Then grasping a small flashlight, she made her way to the door of her grandmother's suite.

She listened. There was no sound. Stealthily she turned the knob, pushed.

The door opened. She stepped inside, closed it behind her, being careful to leave a crack. She wouldn't risk the noise of the latch falling into place.

A quick survey showed her Mr. Baxton's door was closed and the light out. So far, so good.

Her flash played over the desk. Reason told her there was little use to look there for if Mr. Baxton had ever found the will he wouldn't keep it. He'd be anxious to see it destroyed so Jerry could inherit the property.

No, she'd try the wall safe. It wasn't locked. Grand Gussie never locked it. Obviously the will wouldn't be in it but she checked through the collection of old bills as a matter of routine.

Next she tried the drawer in the small table by the window. Finding nothing she picked up the teakwood box which always sat on top of it.

The box had been a gift from Jeremiah. As a child Ann had been fascinated by it. Her grandmother had shown her how to slide the secret panel to expose the small compartment in its base. Then she had let Ann play with it by the hour.

Ann lifted the lid. The box was empty. But on an impulse she touched the trick panel and sliding it back peered into the camouflaged slit.

STARTLED, she brought her light close to the opening, drew back. There was something inside.

Her fingers touched the edges of paper, pulled one out.

Now it was currency and in the corner were the figures of $100. Though Ann had never seen a $100 bill this one looked genuine enough. She examined a second one and found it like the first.

One hundred dollar bills and a whole stack of them! Her grandmother must have kept them here for an emergency.

For a moment, she hesitated. What should she do with them? They shouldn't be left here and yet they had been safe here a long time.

At least until a will was found that didn't belong to her!

She pushed them back into their hiding place and went on to the what-not on the other side of the window. It was crowded with knick-knacks, none of them large enough to conceal a will. Yet she looked around and over each one before she turned to the cross-stitch picture on the wall above.

She had the picture in her hand when she first became aware of footsteps in the hall. She snapped off her light, flattened herself against the window draperies and waited for the footsteps to pass.

But they didn't pass.

They paused. There was an almost imperceptible creak and a swish of air.

Someone had opened the door.

He moved on to the what-not shelves. There, like a slow move he looked behind each gadget.

IF he noticed the bright spot on the wall paper where the cross-stitch picture had hung he made no sign. He reached for another picture, took it down, examined it minutely and returned it to its place.

He did the same to the next picture and the next.

Well, he was doing a good job of the search. If he found nothing Ann need not look any farther.

Then quite suddenly he did find something.

She saw him pull the artificial bouquet from the hand shaper vase, watched him probe the interior with his fingers, saw him stiffen as he tried to grip something inside.

He worked intently, his flashlight held close to the opening where the flowers had been stuck. He seemed to be succeeding only to fail and try again.

At last he drew back and pulled a roll of white paper from the queer vase.

A roll that was long enough to be a will!

Ann couldn't breathe, she couldn't think. She couldn't ever swallow.

HER heart stood still as he unrolled the paper, rattling it in his haste to see the contents.

There was a pulsing pause as he read what he had found.

He lifted his head, stared ahead of him. Then he read the paper again.

"Holy smoke!" he exclaimed at last in a whisper loud enough for Ann to hear. "Holy s-m-o-k-e!"

His voice was low, vibrant.

Jerry Lane!

Jerry Lane with the will in his hand!

Gavin Charges Nation Being Used As 'Guinea Pig' By a Group of Rich Briton Radicals

Charges that the United States is being used as a "proving ground" in social revolution by a group of English radicals are being investigated by Congress, according to a special dispatch printed in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The special writer for the Pittsburgh paper states that the charge was made by Representative Leon H. Gavin, congressman from this district, who told the Boren-Hallock committee investigating grade labeling and the Smith Committee investigating government by bureaucratic directive that the program is one of "revolution by chaos"—a plan to induce complete political resolution by forcing a breakdown in America's economic life.

And a focal point in the plot, Gavin charged, is another of those men with a "passion for anonymity" who have played such an important part in New Deal activities—Israel M. Sieff, wealthy British merchant who came to the United States in 1931.

Gavin declared: "Some time ago, I asked a member of the OPA information staff about Sieff. He told me there was no such man in the bureau. I asked him to check up, and make sure. He phoned me a day or two later and said, sure enough, Sieff was down there."

"The story goes back to the closing years of the last century in England to the 'Fabian Group,' a group of English intellectuals who were trying to socialize England's life. Their program was purely socialistic.

"Out of the Fabian Group emerged a group known as 'Pepe,' or political and economic planners. They followed and developed the Fabian program for recasting England's economic life.

"Their philosophy was based on what they called 'administrative democracy,' or rule by administrative bureaus without the benefit of Congress—in a word, a dictatorial regime, indistinguishable in essence, if not in detail, from communism."

And one of the leading figures in 'Pepe,' he said, was Sieff.

Gavin continued: "Sieff, I am told, made a large amount of money by purchasing goods in Soviet Russia and selling them at a cheaper price than competing English merchants were able to meet."

"Pepe," he said, believed in elimination of the middle man, of business, advertising and individual enterprise—and the substitution of complete government control, producers' and consumers' cooperative, and the like.

Gavin declared: "Sieff was one of the leading figures behind the old NRA. And one of his purposes was this:

"To give 'Pepe' and its principles a thorough testing in the United States before trying them in England—to make the United States a guinea pig for socialism.

Gavin continued: "The professors in OPA and other New Deal bureaus know that if they can cause confusion and chaos in America, the task of socializing the nation will be made easier. They are trying to cause a breakdown and collapse and there is grave danger that they might succeed."

The OPA's plan of grade labeling and standardization, he said, is part of the program; for he charged that it is calculated to break down business, private enterprise and initiative. The destruction of brand names, he said, will eliminate advertising.

The free press, and free radio, would be destroyed—and the whole country plunged into confusion.

Gavin added:

"They are talking of a 'Victory Model' overall, a 'Victory Model' this and that. That means elimination of brand products; it means elimination of thousands of stores and plants. And the more we simplify, the more unemployment we will have.

"We will end this war with a staggering debt. If on top of that we have unemployment as a reward for the millions of soldiers who return to civilian life at the war's end, economic collapse might follow.

"If we had such a collapse, the government would have to take over . . . and these crackpot professors would come into their own."

Gavin concluded: "We don't need any English form of crackpotism. We've got enough of our own as it is."

NEWS ABOUT TOWN

The playground opened Monday of this week on Island Park with a good attendance of children and under the guidance of Mr. Passaro and Miss Mott, promises pleasure and healthful sport for the children and youth of our community, through the summer.

Betty Jo Zelliff is a guest of her aunt Ann Zelliff in Cleveland.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

At the June meeting of the Youngsville School Board, Charles Spencer was elected treasurer of the Board. The budget for 1943 and '44 was approved with a millage for the Borough of 21 mills and the personal poll tax at $4.00. Both rates are the same as last year.

Because of the extra Defense courses introduced in the Youngsville school curriculum, several of the enriching subjects have been taken from the Commercial Course. One less teacher will be employed this year in that department.

The Board approved the granting of a sum for the promotion of the Borough supervised playground. Miss Edna Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Carr was elected as Youngsville School Nurse. Miss Carr is a graduate of Youngsville high school and of St. Vincent Nurses Training Course in Erie.

Three more tryewriters are to be sold to the government soon with the approval of the School Board.

LEAVING FOR OREGON

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Metzger and family are leaving the last of the week for Portland, Ore., where the former will be employed in defense work. They have lived for the past two years in town and will be greatly missed in the community.

Mrs. Metzger was honored with gifts from the Red Circle and the Dorcas Church School Class of the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Red Circle held with Mrs. Willis Kay in which members of the Dorcas Class were invited guests.

Mrs. R. H. Knapp presided over the meeting and presented the gift in the name of the organization. An interesting reading was given by Mrs. Kinnear on "Hawaii." Ice cream and cake was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. R. H. Knapp.

SUCCESSFUL POPPY SALE

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary appreciate the generous response given by the Youngsville Community during the Memorial Poppy sale for which $173.00 was received. Of this $60.00 was paid to the invalid veterans who made the poppies, $2.00 was paid as prize money for the excellent posters made by local school pupils.

The balance of $111.00 will be used for relief work for veterans and their families.
